

A WIDER VIEW

Around 30 members of Bury Bach Choir don Christmas jumpers, raising grand total of £87 for Save the Children appeal

Choir don Christmas jumpers for final rehearsal of the year

A choir injected some festive fun into their final rehearsal of the year by holding a charity Christmas jumper day.

Around 30 members of Bury Bach Choir donned Christmas jumpers on Friday, raising a total of £87 for Save the Children.

The rehearsal was the last before the choir's big Christmas concert in Lavenham, which saw around 250 gather in the village's St Peter's and St Paul's Church to hear carols and enjoy mince pies and mulled wine.

Mike Heywood, choir member, said: "It was the first time we've had a Christmas jumper event and it was well supported by members of the choir."

"It was our final rehearsal before our concert so it was quite serious but it was a great, fun evening at the same time.

"It was the perfect way to wrap up the year."

DRIVE CALLED WITH